Many Old-time Customs Pertaining to Wedding Gown and Accessories Forgotten—Trainless Gowns—Long Tight Sleeves and No Gloves Worn—Dutch Caps of Lace Worn—Latest Wedding Coiffure—Many Different Flowers Worn—To Keep the Food Chopper Bright—Clover Scent for Linen Closet.

FOR THE JUNE BRIDE.

A thousand and one customs that formerly were considered quite as much a part of the business of being married as the selection of the right man or woman, have been almost completely forgotten in the past few years. As if they had never even existed. Once regarded as almost a matter of life and death, they have passed away as certainly as the fashions of last year. It is to the bride, of course, that most of these changes relate, and they run all the way from the manner in which she must comport herself at her "announcement tea," to the proper angle at which her veil must be fastened on the eventful day.

Even the wedding dress has departed from the cut-and-dried rule that demanded stiff satin, relieved or not, as the case might be, by touches of real lace. The bride of today as often wears tulle, charmeuse, silver brocade, faille Française or moiré, or any of these may be completely veiled in lace, chiffon or tulle. For a very informal wedding, any of the very fine cotton voiles, French crepes, embroidered organdies or mousselines may be chosen.

Of course, she may wear satin if she chooses, and perhaps a majority of brides hold to the older custom, but even so, it is not necessarily made up with that old-time stiffness that was supposed to lend stateliness to the bride.

The gown may be with or without a train, or if the bride has a leaning to trains she can as readily satisfy her longing by having two instead of one. Where two trains are used, the longer or court train is fastened only at the shoulder, and may measure three or four yards in length, while the shorter train is attached to the skirt in the usual fashion of trains, and at most is two feet in length.

With the court trains on wedding gowns a novel idea has been introduced this year. Instead of taking her wedding gown back to her mother to have the train removed so that she can use her wedding gown for dinners and dances, or instead of putting it absolutely away as impractical for ordinary wear, she simply detaches the train from the shoulder, where it is held by adjustable snappers. It takes only a moment to transform the modern wedding dress into a dancing frock.

Trainless Gowns. However, the tendency of the season is for wedding gowns that are trainless. Most of them are round length and are a full inch shorter than those of last year, some of them reaching only to the ankles. Moreover, they are extremely simple in lines, with very scant flares, and little draping. The sleeves must be rather tight, with positively no suggestion of a frill as a finish even to those of elbow length.

Many are made with long tight sleeves, and when they are of very sheer tulle no gloves are worn. Whether long or short, the sleeves must give the effect of a long, tight sleeve or a long, tight glove. The waist of the gown may be of tulle over tulle, instead of repeating the satin of the skirt, and it may be high necked if the bride wishes—but she won't, especially at an evening wedding, as décolleté as the average dinner gown.

Vails, too, have undergone all sorts of transformation. Once upon a time they were intended to conceal the face until after the ceremony, when one of the important duties of the maid-of-honor was to take off the shorter length that was fastened to the front of the bride's wreath. Now the face veil is completely discarded. One bride of the season defied that custom so far as to wear a frill of lace that fell just below her eyes, but she was a decided exception.

The veil is very voluminous, perhaps to make up for the scantiness of draping in the gown, and in many of the models of short length wedding dresses the veil is so fashioned and of such length that it in reality forms a train effect, its lower end being held in place by festoons of flowers similar to those used for the wreath. Lace caps, which may be one of a half-dozen shapes, are also seen.

Some of the season's brides have preferred the pointed Dutch caps of lace, others suggest that Watteau idea, or again the veil itself is formed into the popular Juliet cap.

LATEST WEDDING COIFFURE.

A stiff ruffle of tulle stands almost straight up on the head of the bride who insists on the latest coiffure just under the chin. That is, however, this ruffle is relieved by a wreath of orange blossoms, or by a single spray of blossoms which instead of ending in the wreath falls to a point a little below the waistline. If she is the fortunate possessor of ropes of pearls she may fasten her veil with them, drawing one or two across the head and allowing a longer strand to hang from above her ears to her waistline.

Another arrangement of this pearl ornamentation brings the third string just under the chin. That is, however, rather trying, and will probably not be so popular. If she wishes to show off her hair, her veil may be merely attached to the back of her head, permitting all of the soft waves in front to be seen. Tulle is always a favorite for bridal veils, many preferring its flimsiness to the heavier lace. For lace veils the favorite are rose point, point d'Alençon, Brussels, Mechlin, Limerick, point d'Angleterre and even flat point de Venise and d'Arctagnan, although the two latter are usually supposed to be too heavy for this use.

Both bride and bridesmaids are permitted a wide range of choice in what they shall carry in their hands. The bride may have a shower of lilies, or a rose point, point d'Alençon, Brussels, Mechlin, Limerick, point d'Angleterre and even flat point de Venise and d'Arctagnan, although the two latter are usually supposed to be too heavy for this use.

THE FOOD CHOPPER. After a food chopper has been used for some time the knives will be found to have become dull both in color and in cutting power. When this happens it is not to be supposed that the chopper has outlived its usefulness; for by taking a piece of scouring soap and passing it through the chopper, grinding it up just as you would an article of food, the knives will become bright and sharp and the powdered soap may be used again.

CLOVER FOR LINEN. No scent is more delicious for the linen chest than dried sweet clover flowers. Remember this on your next expedition to the country.

RATE QUESTION MAY GO OVER TO WINTER. Salt Lake, May 26.—The question of the railroad making increases in eastbound live stock rates from Utah, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, South Dakota and eastern Oregon will probably not be settled before next January, and although July 30 was set by the interstate commerce commission as the suspension limit for the rates, the rates probably will not be suspended until late next winter. This is the opinion of Dr. S. W.

McClure, secretary of the National Woolgrowers' association, who has returned from St. Louis, Mo., where he attended the recent rate hearing as representative of his association. The hearing lasted three days, but only the testimony of one or two persons was taken. Because the inspection of the interstate commerce commission had other cases set, it was impossible to continue the hearing at that time. It is probable, according to Mr. McClure, that the next hearing will take place some time in August at Denver, Colo. In the meantime the same rates as were in effect last year will remain.

The railroad were represented at the hearing by twenty-five traffic men and attorneys. The protestants were represented by T. W. Tomlinson, secretary of the American National Livestock association of Denver, South Dakota railway commission; S. Stewart, secretary of the South Dakota Livestock association; W. D. Raymond, secretary of the Montana Livestock association, and Dr. McClure of the National Woolgrowers' association. In addition, the various Missouri river markets had representatives to protect their markets against alleged discriminations existing in the new rates. The American National Livestock association and the National Woolgrowers' association were represented by Attorney S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth, Tex.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More.

A Physician's Advice. "It is certainly give most anything to be able to eat up a few pounds and stay that way," says a physician who has seen many thin men and women. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of a condition which is called "fatigue." This condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strengthening fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripening nourishment for the tissues and blood, and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reports of gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by the A. R. McIntyre Drug Store and other good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

CAUTION. While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable cleansing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.—Advertisement.

PROSPEROUS GERMANS GO VISIT SALT LAKE. Salt Lake, May 26.—Between 3500 and 4000 prosperous German citizens, many of them merchants and manufacturers interested in American methods, will tour this country in 1915 on a trip to the expositions on the coast. An organization known as the "American Society Tours" in Berlin is making the arrangements, headed by E. Rudnick, who has written to the Commercial club about the plans. According to Mr. Rudnick, the tourists will leave Berlin in parties of 200 about every ten days. The tour will cover a period of seven months during which the Germans will visit almost every point of note in the United States. Each party is scheduled to stop two days in Salt Lake City. George C. PIMPLES, BOILS AND BLACKHEADS

Face Looked Awfully. Burned So Could Not Sleep. Almost Crazy. Awful Pain. Scratched All the Time. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment 3 Weeks and Was Cured.

2014 Hamburg St., Chicago, Ill.—"I was troubled about eight months with pimples, blackheads and boils. My face looked awfully; it was so bad that I was ashamed to go to work. My face itched then I noticed that it was getting worse every day. I did this every morning so I couldn't sleep nights. I was almost crazy. The pimples were as big as beans and they looked horrid. They came to a head and festered. The boils caused me an awful pain. The itching and burning were so bad that I had to scratch them all the time, then they turned to sores.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment but they didn't help me any. One day I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed my face in warm water with Cuticura Soap then I bathed my face about three or four times, then I dried it and applied Cuticura Ointment. I did this every morning and evening for three weeks and I was cured." (Signed) John Macykowski, July 2, 1913.

In purity, delicate medication, refreshing fragrance, convenience and economy, Cuticura Soap and Ointment meet with the approval of the most discriminating. Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

Commercial Club Publicity Bureau has written to the tour manager, asking that the length of the stay in Salt Lake be made greater, if possible, in order to afford the German tourists an opportunity to make a short trip around the state, visiting important industries and famous resorts.

HOTHOUSE TOMATO AND CUCUMBER HERE

Salt Lake, May 26.—Comes now the hot-house cucumber and tomato and protest that they are and ought to be considered as members of Utah's large number of commercial crops.

Growers in this and other states have experimented with hot-house cucumbers and tomatoes for many years, but always these efforts have proven to be only experimental and to have no practical value, according to J. Edward Taylor, state horticultural inspector. Mr. Taylor judges from a letter received yesterday that a Bouffault grower has broken into the practical class.

The letter asked for information in regard to shipping regulations in other states and said that the writer had a large supply of hot-house cucumbers and tomatoes which he expects to export from Utah, as well as sell in this state.

Aged, Wrinkled Faces Easily Rejuvenated

An aged face is often only a mask to a comparatively youthful person. Beneath is a countenance young and fair to look upon. It is a simple matter to remove the mask. Ordinary mercurochrome, to be had at any drugstore, gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin, in a week or two the user has the loveliest pinky complexion imaginable. An ounce of the wax usually is sufficient to complete the transformation. It is put on at the cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water.

A remarkable treatment is invariably effective, no matter how muddy, sallow or discolored the complexion. Freckles, moth-patches, liver spots, pimples, blackheads and other cutaneous blemishes, naturally vanish with the discarded skin.

To remove wrinkles, here is a recipe that cannot be too highly recommended. Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in 4 pint whisky hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It is put on at the cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water.

SKIRMISHES ON RANGES.

Pocatello, Idaho, May 25.—As a result of two skirmishes over ranges in the Lost River country, several stockmen of that vicinity are in jail at Challis and others are out on bond. Constable Crocker rounded up three men, Bert Lee, John Ross and W. Mud, on the charge of assault with deadly weapons in an encounter where one man had a horse shot from under him. On the same day Sheriff Huntington came in with Bud Ireland, and Smoots and Sanborn, who are charged with assault with intent to commit murder on Gus Carlson on April 25.

BOOST FOR BERRIES.

Provo, May 25.—The strawberry day committee met yesterday and decided to give to the growers prizes as an incentive to contribute their best berries for strawberry day, which will be celebrated here June 15, in connection with the U. C. T. state outing. Three prizes are offered by this committee, as follows: First prize, of $5, for the best crate of berries contributed; second prize of $3, for the second best case of berries contributed, and the third prize of $2, for the third best crate of berries.

Anderson has called a Democratic primary for Provo city, to be held in the district court room, Friday evening, May 29, at 8 o'clock to elect thirty-three delegates to the Democratic state convention and the district congressional convention to be held at Salt Lake June 11. SALTPETER FOUND.

Pocatello, Idaho, May 25.—Word comes from Soldier of a discovery of an extensive deposit of saltpeter along with an outcropping of phosphate of calcium within a few miles, in the mountains north of that town. The discovery was made by W. Lightfoot and John Finch, Sr., both of Soldier. In the winter time, but was impossible on account of the deep snow, to ascertain the true nature of the deposit until this spring. The locators state that Salt Lake capitalists have been interested. Development work is progressing rapidly, but the work is hindered greatly by occasional rain, which at that high altitude at this time of the year usually turns to snow.

ALTONAH IS SEEKING ROAD TO RAILROAD

Altonah, May 25.—This thriving town is situated in one of the richest localities of the Uinta reservation country. It is ninety-five miles east of Salt Lake, twenty-five miles west of Roosevelt, twenty-five miles north of Myton and twenty-four miles northeast of Duchesne. It is on one of the finest benches on the reservation and on the upper survey of the Moffat railway.

In Altonah and surrounding it are 1500 acres of the best land on the reservation, the soil being red sandy clay and watered by the government. On July 1 a large acreage will be sold, the appraisal being from $10 to $20 an acre, with part in deferred payments.

Altonah is a beautiful place, with 186 population, two stores, a blacksmith shop, and a school of 150 pupils. The town was established January 1, 1912. It is in the center of Uinta, just where the county seat should be located. The best of all kinds of crops are raised here. Fall wheat can be grown here successfully without irrigation, and corn, oats, wheat and all kinds of vegetables thrive in this region. There are five sawmills within twelve miles of Altonah, with a big water supply, good fishing and an ideal climate.

Salt Lake, May 26.—A call was issued yesterday by Commander Seymour B. Young of the John Quincy Knowlton post of the G. A. R., requesting all surviving members and families of the Utah volunteers of 1862, Lot Smith's command, to attend the memorial services at the grave of their former commander on Memorial day.

GOVERNING BOARD APPOINTMENTS FUND

Salt Lake, May 26.—The board of governors of the Commercial club passed a resolution at the regular weekly meeting yesterday providing for the distribution of the joint advertising fund which has been raised during the past few weeks. Among the appropriations was one of $1000 for the uses of the exposition commission in charge of Utah's exhibits at the two world's fairs in San Diego and San Francisco next year. This money, however, is to be appropriated only in the event that there is a residue after all other expenditures are cared for.

DR. TISSOT MAKES GREAT DISCOVERY

Paris, France, May 25.—A discovery, which, in the opinion of scientists, may lead to the preparation of serums conferring immunity from many of the contagious diseases, was communicated to the Academy of Sciences tonight by Professor A. D'Arsonval, member of the institute and of the Academy of Medicine. It is the result of several years' experimentation by Dr. Tissot, of the natural history museum, on the constituents of serums.

For many years the unknown substance in serums, which has been named Alexin, and which has the property of destroying pathogenic germs or neutralizing their effects, has been the subject of minute investigation but its nature was never determined until Dr. Tissot succeeded in analyzing the substance and ascertaining the effect of each element contained in it.

The knowledge thus attained, it is

COUPLE MARRY IN DEATH HOUSE

Trenton, N. J., May 25.—In the state prison death house here tonight Raffaele Longo was married instead of being electrocuted. Tomorrow he will die, but tonight he stood in his cell, reached his hands between the bars and was joined in matrimony for the second time to Carmelia Longo. The second ceremony, fifteen years after the one performed in Italy, was declared necessary so that she may inherit Longo's property in that country. Prison authorities consented to postpone the execution until tomorrow to permit the ceremony.
